Connectic System is a New Caledonian Computer services company created in 1994 by Philippe Pirrone. It specializes in the sale, leasing and development of automated cash system for the treatment of cash. It also develops and distributes technological solutions in access control and traceability, monitoring and security of buildings, parking management and ticketing transport.

With over 20 years of experience, Connectic System has already sold a hundred innovative technological solutions, adapted to New Caledonia and the Pacific territories. Its strong sides are: interfacing systems with the SI of companies. The company intervenes in all sectors of activity: road and air transport, banks, casinos, money carriers. It has about ten clients in the Pacific.

For the past four years, Connectic System has become a true center of competence and validation for payment kiosks and cash deposit controllers. The terminals are connected directly to the back office information systems and are able to trace the financial data in real time. Equipped with a touch screen, they accept and return all coins and notes in XPF francs, and other currencies of the region.

Reliability, productivity, cost-saving treatment, the added value to customers is measurable immediately. In New Caledonia, the BCI Bank of the BRED group, the EEC dealers of Groupe ENGIE and CDE of the SUEZ group, are among the first companies to equip themselves with these «smart boxes». They unanimously welcome the computer engineering developed by Connectic System and its ability to customize solutions.

The company also exports its automatons to Tahiti and Vanuatu, and is mainly interested in the Pacific area market. It seeks to expand business in Fiji and will consider Papua New Guinea as a new step for expansion.
